University of New Haven
Forensic Science Faculty Search #12-94

Tenure Track Faculty Position: Assistant/Associate Professor in Forensic Science Department
Organization Name: Forensic Science Department, University of New Haven

The successful candidate will be expected to teach course work in both the undergraduate and graduate forensic science programs at UNH. Some of these courses will be consistent with the faculty member's area of expertise, and other course will be general courses such as Survey of Forensic Science. In addition this candidate must be competent in advising and mentoring students at various levels including both undergraduate and graduate level thesis projects. Research and professional development are key elements of this position as well.

Qualifications:

Minimum requirement is a Ph.D in natural sciences or some closely related forensic science discipline. Areas of interest may include Analytical Chemistry, Organic Chemistry, Instrumental Analysis, Toxicology and Drug Analysis. Practical experience and court room testimony is very important.

University of New Haven is home to one of the oldest and well respected forensic science programs in the United States. Our graduates can be located in forensic science laboratories throughout the US and abroad. We have newly renovated lab space as well as the recent addition of a high tech Henry Lee Institute of Forensic Science facility. Modern equipment, including various DNA analysis platforms, SEM, XRD, Ramon Spectroscopy, GC/MS, LEEDS comparison microscopy, etc. are available for teaching and research.

Review of applications will begin immediately. The position will remain open until filled. The anticipated start date is September 1, 2013.

Interested applicants should submit a cover letter and curriculum vitae to Search # 12-94, University of New Haven, 300 Boston Post Road, West Haven, CT 06516 via email to hrdept@newhaven.edu.

For additional information feel free to contact Department Chair, Tim Palmbach, at tpalmbach@newhaven.edu or phone no. (203)932-7116.

Search Committee: #12-94
University of New Haven
Human Resources Department
300 Boston Post Road
West Haven, CT 06516

You must include the search # in the subject line of your email to be considered for the position

UNH is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer