University of New Haven – Department of Criminal Justice

The Department of Criminal Justice, Henry C. Lee College of Criminal Justice and Forensic Sciences, University of New Haven is recruiting for multiple tenure-track faculty positions. Tenure track positions require a doctoral degree. A J.D. degree alone is not sufficient for any of these positions. An appropriate record of scholarship or the clear potential to publish is expected. A Ph.D. in Criminal Justice is strongly preferred. An earned doctorate in a discipline other than criminal justice that is otherwise consistent with the stated specialization may also be considered. Ph.D. Candidates ("A.B.D.") very near completion of their degree may also be considered for the Assistant Professor rank. In each specialty area, additional experience and expertise is desirable:

Position/Rank and Salary: (salary to be determined) Multiple Tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor Faculty Positions.

Qualifications:

Criminal Justice Search 13-15- Assistant/Associate Professor
Specialty area is open. Expertise in teaching Statistics, Research Methods and Criminology at both the undergraduate and graduate level is strongly desired. Area of expertise that will be considered most desirable includes Forensic Psychology, particularly clinical forensic psychology. Other related fields may also be considered.

Criminal Justice Search 13-16- Assistant/Associate Professor
Specialty area is open. Expertise in teaching Statistics, Research Methods and Criminology at both the undergraduate and graduate level is strongly desired. Areas of expertise that will be considered most desirable include: Victimology, Forensic Psychology, Juvenile Justice, Policing, Investigation, Analytics in Criminal Justice, National Security and Cyber Crime. Other related fields may also be considered.

All faculty positions require teaching, scholarship, service and other duties consistent with the University's Faculty Handbook. Applicants should provide evidence of teaching, scholarship, service, and any sponsored research (e.g., grants or contracts).

Appointment/Start Date: Fall 2013

Application Deadline: Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position(s) is filled.

Application Process: Send a cover letter indicating position Search Number(s) and any specialization(s) applied for and summarizing relevant background, a vita, and contact information for three references to:

Human Resources, Search # 13-15 or # 13-16
University of New Haven
300 Boston Post Road
West Haven, CT 06516

Electronic Submissions are Strongly Preferred
Submit Applications via e-mail to hrdept@newhaven.edu

Please send separate applications if applying for multiple positions. Each application must clearly list the Search Number

Please place a Search Number in the email Subject Line if submitting electronically and send separate emails for each position if applying for more than one position.

UNH is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer