The University of New Haven

Tenure-track Assistant Professor in Biology and Environmental Sciences – Search #12-89

The University of New Haven is seeking a Microbiologist for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Biology and Environmental Sciences beginning fall semester 2013. The position requires teaching and coordinating a high-demand multi-section Microbiology course, creating inquiry-based laboratory exercises, and supervising graduate teaching assistants and adjuncts for the course. The successful candidate will have a record of publication and show scholarly promise, be expected to advise undergraduate biology majors and develop advanced courses in his or her specialty. Specialization open. Ph.D. in hand. Previous experience with grants a plus. Submit cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy and three letters of reference to Search #12-89, Human Resources Department, University of New Haven, 300 Boston Post Road, West Haven, CT 06516 via email to hrdept@newhaven.edu. You must include the search # in the subject line of your email to be considered for the position. Review of applications will begin on immediately and continue until the position is filled.

The University of New Haven is a private, top-tier comprehensive university recognized as a national leader in experiential education. Founded in 1920, the University has an 80-acre main campus, along with satellite campuses located throughout the state and abroad. UNH has an enrollment of approximately 6,400, including nearly 1,800 graduate students and more than 4,600 undergraduates - the majority of whom reside in University housing. The University offers 75 undergraduate and graduate degree programs in the arts and sciences, business, criminal justice, engineering and forensic sciences. Conveniently located near downtown New Haven, the University provides employees with a comprehensive benefit package and a professional, productive and pleasant work environment. Women and minority candidates are encouraged to apply.

UNH is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer